Dear Miss Mahaffey:

In reply to your letter of April 5, I am listing several books that you might receive some valuable information from regarding slum life and how Christians can help alleviate the suffering in such areas.

Dark Ghetto, by Kenneth B. Clark, Harper and Row,
New York, New York, 1965

New York City in Crisis, New York Herald Tribune,
Barry Gotthrer, published by Pocket Books, Inc., New York, 1965

Dilemmas of Urban America, by Robert C. Weaver, Harvard
University Press, Cambridge, Massachusetts, 1965

Living Standards, by Edward Rogers, SCM Press, Ltd.,
Bloomsbury Street, London, England

I hope this will be of some help to you, and I wish you well on the writing of your research paper.

Sincerely yours,

John Allen Chalk

Dear Brother Chalk,

In writing a research paper over slums, and what part the Christian can do in making slum life more bearable for those who live in the slum areas, I have had some trouble getting much information about it, especially since it is a rather new work.

Could you help me by sending me any information which you might have?

Two stamps are enclosed for your reply. Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Dark Ghetto, by Kenneth B. Clark
